THE COMMONWEAL

November 28, 1887

COMMUNICATIONS

To Correspondents.

J. A.—Walter Crane's lecture on "The rise of the applied Arts" and their relations to our political and social life, printed in the "Times" of October 16, is full of good advice; but it is not likely that the "Irish Question" will be settled by the application of the "English way of life.

The Liberal party is not so much interested in the "Irish Question" as in the "Irish people." They are not so much interested in the "Irish Question" as in the "Irish people." They are not so much interested in the "Irish Question" as in the "Irish people." They are not so much interested in the "Irish Question" as in the "Irish people." They are not so much interested in the "Irish Question" as in the "Irish people." They are not so much interested in the "Irish Question" as in the "Irish people." They are not so much interested in the "Irish Question" as in the "Irish people."